Plan of AIDC
Is Help Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Cass S. Hough of Rogers, who was appointed to the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said Wednesday that in a conversation with the governor he received the impression that the AIDC staff was not "communicating" as much as the governor felt was necessary.

Hough's remark followed the submitting of an unsigned memorandum, apparently from Rockefeller, which halted the AIDC's consideration of a $150,000 advertising program for next year.

The memorandum, submitted by Bill Conley, Rockefeller's press aide, stated, "I hope no commitment will be made on the AIDC advertising and promotion program for next year until all have had an opportunity to be heard."

The AIDC's advertising has been handled by Cranford-Johnson of Little Rock for the past three years. There have been reports that Rockefeller wants state paid advertising campaigns awarded on a competitive basis.

Hough, who handled Rockefeller's campaign finances last year, was the first to suggest halting consideration of the advertising campaign.

He said that Rockefeller, a former AIDC chairman, had definite ideas and wanted a change of direction in the AIDC's industry-unting approach.

Hough, explaining that he was not speaking for the governor, said that Rockefeller had deep interest in the AIDC and its work. He said that the governor had definite views on what he felt the agency should do at this stage.

"He wants a change of direction," Hough said. "Instead of a band-aid type program of going to an industry and begging it to locate in Arkansas, he is devoted to the idea of developing the state before the fact. He wants to find out what we need," Hough said.

For an example, Hough said, "If we find out that oxygen is needed for certain industries and they have to obtain it from out of state sources, let's find out the scope of the need and why it isn't available in Arkansas."

"Then we can go to the producer of the oxygen and say here's the complete dossier," Hough said. "Here we have a ready-made market for your product if you want to move in. The benefits will be mutual."

CAROL LAWRENCE TOURS IN 'FUNNY GIRL'
NEW YORK (AP) — A summer tour is slated for Carol Lawrence in the musical "Funny Girl." Stops on the swing include Cleveland, Buffalo, Washington and Baltimore.

Miss Lawrence prior to that stage stint will tape a dozen performances for NBC-TV's Dean Martin Summer Show.

Minnie Pearl Was Forced to Land

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — After 20 years of flying, Cousin Minnie Pearl says she and her husband, Henry Cannon, have an experience to tell their friends about.

The country comedienne and Cannon walked away from their single-engine plane after it developed engine trouble and crash-landed in a field near here Tuesday.

Cousin Minnie spent the night in a hospital after complaining of a soreness in the abdomen. Cannon said he was not hurt.

"We both came out of it wonderfully," she said. "It's all due to Henry's skill. Naturally when we landed it gave us a little jolt. It wasn't exactly a runway."

The Grand Ole Opry performer said she suffered a few bruises when the landing impact threw her against her seat belt.

Backers of Powell Admit
Uphill Fight

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Proponents of seating Adam Clayton Powell admit they'll face an uphill fight if the controversial Harlem Democrat comes to claim the seat to which he was overwhelmingly re-elected last week.

Although any new showdown in the 3-month-old wrangle will not come before next week at the earliest, 11 liberal Democrats made public Wednesday a behind-the-scenes drive to seat Powell.

But their appeal to fellow House members "to resolve this matter in accord with the spirit and the letter of the Constitution" was coupled with an admission that few votes have switched since the House voted March 1 to exclude the flamboyant preacher-politician.

"It appears that a majority of the House is prepared to exclude once again," they said. Headcounts made by a number of House leaders, in order to detect changes since March 1, have revealed that most members would vote now as they voted then. This would mean Powell again would be excluded, and another new election would have to be held for his New York 18th District seat.

New York election officials said, meanwhile, that it might be a week or longer before the certification of Powell's election could be on its way to the House clerk.

What happens then has not yet been decided. Powell's attorneys are reported split — some favoring delaying his appearance here until the courts rule finally on his suit to overturn the exclusion, and others wanting Powell to return here to fight for his admission.

Powell remains on his Bahamian fishing retreat of Bimini, keeping largely to himself and weighing possible courses.

The statement by the 11 congressmen praised "the vigorous and courageous stand of the House Democratic leadership in favor of honoring the April 11

Pursue Truths

Priest Says

By TOM SEPPY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young priest-professor whose dismissal from his Catholic University teaching post has sparked faculty and student protests says Catholic theologians must be free to pursue religious truths.

"The issues in this dismissal are greater than any one man," said the Rev. Charles E. Curran. "Both Catholic theology in America and Catholic university election" and called on Republican leaders to continue the support they gave last month to a select committee's recommendation that Powell be seated but censured, along with loss of seniority and withholding of $40,000 of his future House salary.

The Democrats made clear they favor "appropriate action to recover any monies found to be due the United States."

"The Justice Department is now investigating the various allegations and we believe and expect that necessary legal actions will be taken in any violations which have occurred," they said.

education are in question." He told a news conference his liberal writings on Catholic moral theology and his liberal attitude toward birth control probably caused his dismissal. He said no charges had been made against him.

Father Curran, 33, picked up support Wednesday as fellow faculty members and students began boycotting classes over the Board of Trustees decision to terminate his teaching contract when it expires Aug. 31.

The 22-member faculty of the School of Sacred Theology, of which Curran is a member, passed a resolution saying "we cannot and will not function unless and until Father Curran is reinstated."

The Rev. Walter Schmitz, dean of the school, urged his colleagues to support the boycott.

A meeting of the university's full faculty was being held today.

After the faculty boycott was announced, student leaders urged the 6,600-member student body to stay away from classes.

The students planned another demonstration today.

Hundreds of students were absent from classes Wednesday to attend rallies for Father Curran and to establish a vigil in front of the administration building.

LANGLEY INFANT

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wayne Langley, William Christopher, died Wednesday. Also surviving are his grandparents, Mrs. Faye Gilvens of Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Langley of Hope.

Graveside services were held Thursday at Cypress Cemetery, Leola, Ark. by Oakcrest Funeral Home.

Washington in 1965 after four years at St. Bernard's Seminary, Rochester, N.Y., was notified Monday of the Board of Trustees decision to terminate his contract.

The faculty's resolution said the board's decision is "a repudiation of the professional judgment and integrity of the faculty of the School of Theology, as well as the professional judgment of the Academic Senate."

The faculty recommended last Nov. 16 that Father Curran be promoted to the rank of associate professor. The Academic Senate approved the promotion March 21.

The Board of Trustees, which includes cardinals and archbishops from around the country, normally passes only on full professorships.

BRAINS VS. POPULARITY

Dear Helen: I am smart — too smart — and that drives boys away. They automatically think if you have a brain you're either a snob or a grind and no fun. Well, my marks came down this term from straight A to B+ average. That's still not dumb, but all of a sudden boys started liking me. Not zillions, but enough so it's encouraging.

Now, Helen, what does being smart have to do with popularity? Why do boys always associate smartness with cloddiness? Or is it a matter of pride? That's silly. We don't take IQ tests on dates.

Whenever we argue it's always me who gets yelled at. She constantly nags and teases me and I have to take it because she's "poor little sister."

My parents take out their wounded feelings on me. I'm supposed to "understand," but understanding doesn't calm my nerves. Many times I lock myself in my room, crying. No one seems to know I need understanding too, that I can hurt so bad I want to die. Everything centers around HER.

Why can't my sister go out and get a job—she can do a lot more than she lets on. She's got to make her own way sometime, but why should she, when she's got a nice cozy home to live in free, where she can stay up all night and sleep all day? Will my folks give her a shove? No, they just sit back and let her rule them, mooch off us and act like a moron instead of growing up.

PLEASE HELP

Dear P.H.: I don't know all the circumstances here, but I'd suggest your parents enroll your sister in special classes for the mentally and emotionally handicapped. Most states have vocational training programs for the retarded. Many times a child once given up as hopeless can be taught a trade that will make him or her self-sufficient.

People who devote their whole lives to the "sick" daughter, are hurting everyone in the family. Including the pampered one who might make it on her own, with a little push and a lot of help. —H.

Dear Helen: I'm going with a boy on the QT because his mother is bound he'll marry a good friend of the family, a rich girl who brings him all kinds of gifts. My folks yak at me all the time, saying I'm a fool to take this, but the boy says "be patient" and everything will work out.

He can't break up with the girl, as she's over at his house all the time, but he says he wants to marry me. His mother found out about me going with him once before and spread rumors about me, then made my life miserable with telephone calls and nasty letters. My mother says it will never work, but is there any harm in waiting to see? —BECKY

Dear Becky: I agree with your mother, but you must find this out for yourself—so wait a while and see. Let's hope you wake up to reality soon. —H.

Walker Could Get the First Baseball Oscar

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Harry Walker might become the first baseball man to win an Oscar.

The Pittsburgh Pirate manager, a tireless student of the game, is having motion pictures made of his Pirates in game action to show them what they're doing wrong, especially batting.

Walker started tinkering with cameras during the last few games of the 1966 season. This year, it's becoming a Hollywood production.

The Pirates plan to install a telephone in the dugout to enable Walker to direct his cameramen operating two cameras.

The cameramen work with a long-range lens on the top of the stands behind home plate, and operates another camera alongside the Pirate dugout by remote control.

Here's Walker's idea:

"I may want him to keep his camera strictly on Matty Alou during a game. The idea is to film one or two of our hitters at a time. Then, afterwards, we can run the film and show it to the particular player. We can replay it, use stop-action, anything."

"I might want him to keep the camera on one of our fielders, mostly, though, I'd like to have shots of our hitters."

"I don't intend to use the films every day. I want them available to me though. Some ball players take instruction better than others."

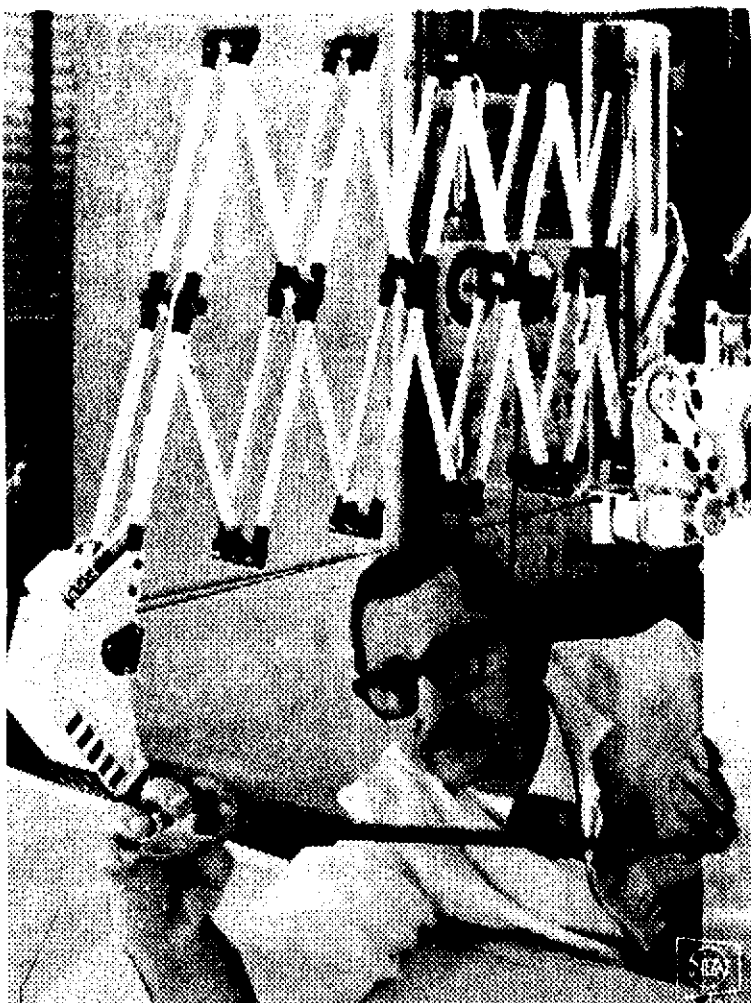

"Then, there's the case of timing. I'd like to show the films to certain hitters right after a game, but sometimes I will wait until the next day."

Are the cameras paying off? Walker says yes.

He thinks the films have helped Alou, last year's National League batting champ who started off slowly this year.

Walker said, "Matty didn't realize it, but he had his left foot much closer to the plate than he did last year. I told him about it, but when he saw the films he finally believed me."

Helpful or not, playing for the Pirates is one way to get into pictures.

A MOON-SCRATCHER designed to dig into the lunar crust is a key feature of the Surveyor 3 lunar mission. The claw is capable of digging to a depth of 18 inches and scooping up samples of moon soil for scanning by Surveyor's television and telemetry equipment with findings relayed back to earth. The arm, being checked out at Surveyor-builder Hughes Aircraft Co. in Los Angeles, has a five-foot reach when fully extended.

Final Leg Is Begun by Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Montreal's Canadiens, unbeaten in their last 15 games, begin tonight the final leg of their quest for a third straight Stanley Cup championship.

The Canadiens, runners-up during the regular National Hockey League season, are favored to win the best-of-7 final series from the Toronto Maple Leafs, third in regular season play.

Montreal, unbeaten in their last 11 regular season games, swept the New York Rangers 4-0 in the Cup semifinals, while the Leafs were upsetting the league champion Chicago Black Hawks four games to two.

Noting that the team was plagued by injuries throughout the season, Montreal star center Jean Beliveau, appearing in Cup competition for the 14th straight time, said that the Canadiens are "just as good now as in any other year, and the club is in the best shape it has been all season."

With the exception of rookie goalie Rogatien Vachon, Montreal goes into the final series with the same line-up that won the cup last year.

However, the Leafs are not in top shape physically.

Left winger Larry Jeffrey, one of the club's top penalty killers, who was injured last Tuesday night when the Leafs eliminated Chicago 3-1, underwent surgery Wednesday for torn ligaments.

Smith Great at Crashing Through

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Big Bubba Smith is just great at crashing through offensive linemen. But he's stymied by a paper wall and hasn't yet signed a pro football contract.

The Michigan State University star was the first prize in the draft, but the Baltimore Colts haven't signed him yet.

Two agents claim exclusive rights to negotiate for the 283-pound defensive star — CIMCO (Celebrities Investment Management Corp.) of Washington and Pro Sports, Inc., of New York.

"We are negotiating, we have talked," said Colts' General Manager Harry Holmes.

"But we were advised there are two agents involved, which is why things are in a suspended state," he added.

The lineman who starred on two successive Big Ten championship teams said, "I'm represented by Pro Sports, Inc., and that is the only one. Why haven't I signed? It's because of the negotiating. I'm not rushing things."

Big Brother Directive Is Killed

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has killed a Navy "big brother" directive, it was learned today.

The directive advised civilian employees to seek "wise and mature counsel" before linking up with persons or organizations of a political or civic nature.

A Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee became interested in the directive weeks ago, and raised questions about it.

The document was issued under the Navy's security program and was headed "suggested counsel to employees."

It said: "A number of our citizens unwittingly expose themselves to unfavorable or suspicious appraisal which they can and should avoid."

"This may take the form of an indiscreet remark; an unwise selection of friends or associates; membership in an organization whose true objectives are concealed behind a popular and innocuous title; attendance at and participation in the meetings and functions of such organizations even though not an

By DON NORTH
NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — "I reached over to put my arm around her and felt that she was cold. Then I turned on the light and saw that she was dead."

In these words, Dr. Carl Coppolino told his wife's father on Aug. 28, 1965, that she had died as they slept together in their Sarasota home.

The account was given Wednesday by the father in the 14th day of Coppolino's trial on a charge of murdering his 32-year-old wife, Carmela, with an injection of a paralyzing drug.

"My first question was, 'How could she die?'" said Dr. Carmelo Musetto of Boonton, N.J. "She was in excellent health."

Musetto said that after hearing Coppolino's description he asked, "Had she been sick?" and Coppolino said Carmela died of a massive coronary occlusion, after she had complained of chest pain from indigestion the night before.

Musetto said he was told first there was no report yet of an autopsy. Later, Musetto told Coppolino told him: "By the way, dad, Dr. (Millard) White just told me that a severe heart condition was found in the autopsy."

Musetto said that when the body was returned to New Jersey for burial he learned from a funeral director there had been no autopsy. But he said he made no effort to have one performed until he was told the death was being investigated.

"I took Carl's word for it," said Musetto. "Carl said the conclusion was massive coronary."

Coppolino wanted his wife buried in Sarasota, Musetto said, but agreed after prolonged pleading to permit burial in the family plot.

Musetto testified that after a daughter was born to Carmela, he advised Coppolino to apply for disability insurance.

"I told him he was married and a father and had responsibilities," said Musetto. "I urged him to take it out."

In 1960, Musetto said, he suffered a severe heart attack and Coppolino began questioning him "in minute detail" about his symptoms.

Then, after working less than six months at Riverview Hospital, Redbank, N.J., Coppolino complained of coronary artery disease and took 100 per cent disability payments. The Coppolinos then moved to Florida.

Musetto said Coppolino had previously suffered no heart trouble.

In its case against the 34-year-old anesthesiologist the state alleges that greed, financial troubles and Carmela's Roman Catholic objection to divorce drove Coppolino to murder.

The defense contends Carmela died of natural causes.

Prosecutors produced insurance policies on Carmela's life worth $65,000 and gave evidence that three weeks before her death an effort had been made to boost one policy by $10,000.

Within two months of Carmela's death, Coppolino married Mary Gibson, a wealthy divorcee who sits just outside the rail each day in the courtroom.

official member; or any of numerous other clever means designed to attract support under false colors or serving to impress an individual with his own importance."

Therefore, the directive said, "it is advisable to study and seek wise and mature counsel prior to association with persons or organizations of any political or civic nature, no matter what their apparent motives may be, in order to determine the true motives and purposes of the organization in question."

The Navy document did not specify to whom the employees should turn for the "wise and mature counsel." Presumably, such counsel was available from the Navy.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A "negligible" gunfight occurred in the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division area on the western Korean front early Tuesday, an official of the United Nations command said today.

He said sentries spotted two unidentified persons about 750 yards from their post south of the armistice line and a brief exchange of fire followed. The pair fled north and there were no casualties or damage, the spokesman said.

There have been three major clashes this month along the armistice line in which 11 North Koreans and one South Korean were reported killed.

American Club in Cuba Is Only Symbol

By FENTON WHEELER
HAVANA (AP) — On the prado near Old Havana is a fading building where a handful of aging Americans sit in leather chairs waiting for time to pass.

Their solitude is unchallenged by the tread of young British and Canadian diplomats playing squas two floors overhead — or by the rumble of the Cuban army trucks outside.

The scene is the American Club, a hangover from earlier days and a paradox in modern Cuba. It is a sort of symbol of the two kinds of Americans who live in Communist Cuba today: those who support Prime Minister Fidel Castro and those who don't.

Except for the few club members, almost everyone fits the category of supporters.

Exact figures on the number of native-born Americans in Cuba more than eight years after the Castro revolution are difficult to verify here. The best estimate seems to be 100-130.

Any figures are suspect. Some of the Americans no longer consider themselves U.S. citizens. For others, time and their activities have invalidated their passports and clouded their legal status.

Housing Marchers are Jailed

By C. M. GILMOUR JR.
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police quashed a demonstration for an open-housing ordinance by hauling every one of about 100 marchers to jail Wednesday night.

The arrests apparently removed doubts about the city's action on its temporary ban against night marches by the demonstrators. Earlier Wednesday, a federal judge rejected a petition on behalf of the demonstrators to remove the case from state to U. S. District Court.

Police twice fired tear-gas pellets into a crowd of more than 700 hecklers, at times forcing them two blocks away from demonstrators.

A police captain said the hecklers appeared angrier than during other of the almost nightly demonstrations. Police arrested a total of 113 persons including some hecklers for throwing rocks, scuffling with police or failing to obey orders to move out.

diplomatic relations with Castro in 1961, has about 1,000 persons registered as Americans. But, an official says, practically all of these are Cuban-Americans waiting for the resumption of the Mexican airlift to New Orleans.

The U.S. State Department, it is believed here, keeps careful check on the Americans remaining in Cuba. At least 95 per cent of them are "revolutionaries," a Western diplomat estimates.

"These people are here because they want to be," he says. "They believe in the revolution and are working for it."

Some have been in Cuba since shortly after Castro came to power.

Redistrict Showdown Within Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate in "a matter of weeks" will face a showdown on the controversial subject of legislative reapportionment, predicts Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Dirksen told newsmen Wednesday he expects two more states to submit soon petitions calling for a constitutional convention to consider whether states should be allowed to apportion one legislative house on a basis other than population.

That would bring to 34 — the necessary two-thirds required by the Constitution — the number of states petitioning for the convention in the aftermath of the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" edict. It required all legislative bodies to follow strict population guidelines for districting.

In a two-hour floor debate, Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said Congress should not consider calling a convention until at least five more states petition. He warned that such a convention could involve other moves to change the Constitution.

But Dirksen pledged "I shall march in here" to demand a convention as soon as two more petitions are received.

A proposal to force reapportionment of state congressional districts moved forward in the House, with the way cleared for floor action on a measure set by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to reduce livestock imports from 900 million pounds to 600 million pounds a year.

The Senate Armed Services Committee concluded Wednesday its hearings on an administration measure to extend the life of the present draft law, which expires June 30.

The final witness was Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, who urged the extension and said President Johnson plans a presidential order aimed at preventing students from evading service by pursuing post-graduate studies.

SEVERED HAND is back on the job for carpenter Russell C. Stratton, 27, of Quincy, Mass., who lost his left hand in a buzz saw accident Feb. 17. The hand was resected on his arm in a nine-hour operation. He can move only one finger now, but further surgery may restore use of others.

1972, the largest district in population in each state might exceed the smallest district by as much as 30 per cent. After that, the difference might be as much as 10 per cent.

The Senate spent much of its session in a continuing debate over the administration's bill to restore business tax incentives. The measure — caught in a three-week battle over attempts to use it as the vehicle to repeal the presidential election campaign financing law — had still another extraneous amendment tacked onto it.

Adopted 55 to 19 was a rider by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to reduce livestock imports from 900 million pounds to 600 million pounds a year.

Der Alte

(The Old One) was the half-mocking, half-respectful nickname his countrymen gave Konrad Adenauer, the man with the granite features and will who, at an age when most men end their active careers, took on the task of rebuilding a war-shattered nation. For 14 years—longer than his predecessor, Adolf Hitler—he governed. His accomplishments were many—a functioning democracy, the "Economic Miracle," reconciliation and full partnership with the Western Allies. But the final triumph eluded him—reunification of divided Germany.

1955: French Premier Edgar Faure, above, welcomes Adenauer's Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Virtually unknown to the outside world, Adenauer was selected in 1949 to head a government for the merged western occupation zones. He was considered "clean"—mayor of Cologne, he had been imprisoned in the early Hitler days for opposition to the Nazis—and "safe"—at 74, he was expected to serve quietly, co-operatively and probably briefly as a transitional leader. Above, Adenauer, second from right, and Ludwig Erhard, second from left, his economics minister and eventual successor, confer with High Commissioners John J. McCloy, United States; Ivone Kirkpatrick, Britain, and Andre Francois-Poncet, France.

A tip of a gift ten-gallon hat on a visit to the LBJ Ranch, but U.S.-West German relations lost much of the old magic after Eisenhower and Dulles. Adenauer's grip slipped at home, too, and in 1963 he was forced into retirement as chancellor, although he remained a power behind the scenes.

Adenauer and a friend, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, saw eye-to-eye on the Communist menace and West Germany rapidly became the anchor of American policy in Europe. Later, another great friendship began to develop, right. Adenauer and cheering crowds, carrying signs in French and German calling for European unity and federation, welcomed President De Gaulle to Bonn. But close ties between ancient enemies forged by the two strong men were to weaken rapidly with Adenauer's retirement.

Top Leaders to Funeral for Adenauer

By CARL HARTMAN
BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's capital beside the Rhine becomes the temporary capital of the Western world next week when President Johnson and other government leaders assemble for the funeral of Konrad Adenauer.

French President Charles de Gaulle, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and other top men of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will also attend the state services Tuesday in Cologne's Roman Catholic Cathedral for the 91-year-old ex-chancellor who rebuilt West Germany from the depths of wartime defeat.

It will be the largest gathering of Western government heads since the funeral for President John F. Kennedy in November 1963.

The White House announcement that Johnson would fly to Germany for the funeral made no mention of the President extending his trip to other European areas. The general feeling in Washington was that this was unlikely.

It will be Johnson's first visit to Europe since he became President, and there was speculation in Bonn that the gathering of Western leaders would give the U.S. President the opportunity for talks with West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger and De Gaulle on major issues between their governments and Washington.

But the belief in Washington was that a state funeral was not a suitable occasion for such discussions and that Johnson's contacts with the foreign leaders would be of a more casual nature, such as those he had in Washington with the statesmen who attended Kennedy's funeral.

After the state funeral, Adenauer will be buried at a private family service in the Rhodorf village cemetery in the Rhine River Hills not far from his home where he died in his sleep Wednesday.

Adenauer Was Forced to Leave

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Konrad Adenauer was a combination cement-mixer, architect, and teacher for the new West Germany. Even at the age of 87 he didn't want to retire. But he was forced to.

He was too iron-willed, some would say too bull-headed, to be universally loved. It wasn't that his country didn't appreciate what he had done. It just thought it was time he left.

The same thing had happened to one of his great contemporaries, Sir Winston Churchill, some years before in Britain. But at that time Churchill was physically deteriorating. Adenauer didn't seem to be. He had just outlived his time.

The West Germany he took over in 1949 as chancellor, at age 73, was still pretty much a rubble from the war. He held the job 14 years and in that time guided his country into a miracle of prosperity and a new way of life.

He had to lay the foundations for the new West Germany and build it by design into a new European power. He allied it with the West, making it one of the pillars of the Allies.

But perhaps his greatest contribution was in steering the West German people in a democratic direction after their long history of authoritarianism. If West Germany stays on that road, he will be one of the great figures of its history.

If not, he will simply have been a stopgap leader who happened to appear during an interval between dictatorships.

So, if the obituaries about him seem a little guarded, there is good reason: Since the future of West Germany is uncertain it is too soon to say whether what Adenauer did was all for nothing or was a glittering achievement.

He preached democracy but at times seemed so authoritarian himself in his impatience with opposition that, while he may have been revered and trusted, he was not particularly popular.

West Germany probably needed an iron-willed man at the time Adenauer took over. Then it was surrounded and suspected by its wartime enemies. It might have melted into chaos under a weaker man.

Yet, there were odd twists in his career which almost made his ascendancy look accidental.

He had been mayor of Cologne from 1917 until 1933, when Hitler threw him out for ordering Nazi posters torn down. He was in eclipse during the war. After it he became mayor again. Then the British threw him out.

This enabled him to devote all his energies to becoming chancellor. After the war he had helped create the Christian Democratic Union and became its leader. It was a kind of mass party, drawing support from all classes.

When his CDU won a narrow plurality in the 1949 election he formed a center-right coalition in the first Bonn Parliament. Then came the big test of his big ambition and he didn't win by much.

His election as chancellor of the new government in 1949 was by one vote in the 402-seat Parliament.

Five days after his election he laid down a view and a policy which he followed for the rest of his time in office.

He said there could be no peace in Europe until Germany was reunited (a hope that hasn't been realized yet although he persisted in it), that there must be an end to French-German hostility, that West Germany "belongs to Western Europe," and he linked West Germany's fate with that of the United States.

For several years before he stepped down in 1963, against his will, there had been growing dissension about his leadership within his party. Finally, his party dictated his departure.

He lived four years after that and was 91 when he died Wednesday.

Austrians Get Terms for Bombings

VIENNA (AP) — Two Austrians were sentenced to prison terms today for bombing an Italian airlines office in Vienna last August in an attempt to break up Austrian-Italian talks on the future of the disputed Alto Adige area of the South Tyrol.

Hannes Falk, 33, who denied any part in the bombing, got seven years. Emanuel Kubart, 24, who pleaded guilty and accused Falk of being the instigator, was given six years.

The bombing did an estimated $80,000 damage.

Baltimore Hospitals Provide Pills

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A Baltimore hospital provides birth control pills for the high school girl who is sexually involved with a number of boys or the girl who is often intimate with her steady boyfriend.

The providing of pills is a part of a program at Sinai Hospital which offers treatment of adolescent problems from acne to and through pregnancy.

The hospital describes the recipients of the birth control pills as "sexually active." Dr. Leon Gordis, a pediatrician at Sinai, said Tuesday about 60 girls have been referred to the program in the past four months.

"Essentially the experience of the adolescent center," said Gordis, "has shown that sexual activity is increasingly common and accepted among adolescents."

"Since the rate of teen-age pregnancy is so high and the consequences are so tragic, the new service was added to the center," he said.

Dr. Matthew Tayback, deputy health commissioner for Baltimore, said the program — believed the only one of its kind in the country — is aimed at the "extremely large number of pregnancies and live births among girls 16 and under."

"The teen-ager," said Gordis, "is essentially unprepared for motherhood. An unwanted pregnancy is often a tragic event."

Gordis said the term "sexually active" was used because it would be unfair to presume that only promiscuous girls are involved, since some girls may date just one boy.

"Contraception," he continued, "is an important part, but only a part of a program of total health care."

Girls accepted into the program at the hospital's adolescent center may come from any part of the city and receive the pills only after intensive individual and group counseling and only with parental consent.

Some of the girls are referred to the program by parents worried about pregnancy, while others are referred by Public Health Service nurses, physicians, community health agencies and the city's maternity care center and venereal disease clinics.

Uterine Fibroids Do Not Always Require Removal

 By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What symptoms are caused by fibroids? Is it necessary to have them removed? Is the usual procedure a hysterectomy?

A—This is infestation with roundworms. The new drug, thiabendazole (Mintezol), is very effective against this and many other worm infestations. It can be obtained only on a doctor's prescription.

A—A uterine fibroid causes no symptoms unless it becomes so large that it causes pressure on the bladder or rectum and thereby irritates these organs. In women of childbearing age a large fibroid may interfere with conception. If pregnancy occurs, it may cause premature delivery or it may necessitate a Caesarean section.

Surgeons are not as likely to advise removal of fibroids as they used to. A large fibroid is not as large as it appears. It need not be removed unless it causes uterine bleeding or pressure symptoms. Most fibroids stop growing and some actually shrink after the menopause. When a fibroid does have to be removed, the entire uterus is removed. This is a hysterectomy.

Q—What causes uterine fibroids? Do they become cancerous?

A—The cause of these tumors is not known but, whatever it is, it affects about 20 per cent of all women who are over 35. Fibroids are benign tumors and do not become malignant.

Q—Following an operation for what was thought to be a cancer, the pathologist's report indicated that the growth was not malignant but idiopathic retroperitoneal fibrosis. What is the cause and what is the treatment?

A—Idiopathic means of unknown cause. In this uncommon disease a fibrous mass forms in the retroperitoneal tissues—the tissues in back of the rear wall of the abdomen and pelvis. The mass may obstruct the ureters leading from the kidneys to the bladder. The treatment includes surgical repair to free the ureters, deep X-ray therapy to shrink the fibrous mass and hydrocortisone to relieve any accompanying inflammatory reaction.

Q—What is ascariasis? Is there a cure?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Traitors, subversives and underground resistance fighters have often been referred to as a "fifth column," says The World Almanac. The phrase originated during the Spanish Civil War (1936-1939). Emilio Mola, one of Franco's generals, said that he was leading four columns of troops against Madrid and then declared that he had a "fifth column" of supporters within the city who would help him during the fight.

LBJ Purge Feared Over Vote Money

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The shadow of suspicion that President Johnson might be tempted to try to purge some of his congressional critics in 1968 apparently is bolstering efforts to repeal the presidential election campaign financing law.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., trying to reverse the Senate's 48-42 vote for repeal a week ago, has come up with revisions of the act which permits citizens to check off $1 of their income taxes to be divided between the major parties.

The repealer was added to a tax bill which has been before the Senate nearly three weeks and must go back to the House - which hasn't voted on the campaign finance issue - before it can become law.

One of Long's new proposals would turn over control of the $30 million that could be raised for each party to the presidential nominee or to his agent instead of to the party organization.

Since Johnson can have the 1968 Democratic nomination for the asking, some opponents say privately the President would have the promise of funds, available after Sept. 1, 1968, with which to influence the earlier nomination of senatorial candidates.

Some critics of Johnson's Vietnam policies fear the President might try, as Franklin D. Roosevelt did in 1938, to purge dissenters in party primaries.

Roosevelt didn't have much luck. But he didn't have the prospect of a $30-million campaign fund to help him out his critics.

New County Forest Queen to Be Picked

Applications are being taken now to determine who will represent Hempstead County in this year's Forest Queen Program.

To be eligible to participate the contestant must be a high school graduate and between the ages of 17-24 by September 1.

Application blanks and rules may be obtained from Haskell Jones KXAR-Hope, from any forestry employee or from Hempstead County Farm Bureau office.

The important thing is to get your application in as soon as possible.

It's a Scientific Fact That If You Can't Be Annoyed You Are Dead

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) - Life is a reaction to irritation.

If you can't be annoyed, you're dead. This is a scientific fact.

To be alive you have to have a capacity for anger. But what's to be mad about?

Well, if everything is going too well for you, here is a list of things to remember to gripe about the next time you feel it necessary, for sanity's sake, to be indignant:

The smugness of cats.

The indifference of goldfish.

The ingratitude of children.

The things you get back when you send away box tops.

The sour smell of a relighted cigar.

The flavor of anything that isn't caloric.

Other people's morals.

Other people's lack of principle.

The malady known as facing Monday.

The futility of Fridays in the average week.

The size of the paycheck.

Having one more chin than is necessary.

Waiting for a girl you're taking to dinner to make up her mind to show her utter sobriety.

Cause of Freedom of Information Has Lost Ground in Past Year

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cause of freedom of information lost ground in the past year, a committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors reported today.

An advance was made on "the traditional battlefield against bureaucrats," said ASNE's Freedom of Information Committee, but the gain was more than offset by losses in free press-fair trial controversy.

The setbacks, described in a report addressed to the more than 500 newspaper editors opening ASNE's annual meeting today, were summarized in these terms by the committee headed by J. Edward Murray, managing editor of the Arizona Republic, Phoenix:

"These (losses) resulted from actions by the Supreme Court and the American Bar Association which, intentionally or not, scared a lot of policemen, prosecutors, defense counsel and especially judges into suppressing legitimate news of the criminal process."

One of the major developments, said the committee, was the Supreme Court's ruling that Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard had been denied a fair trial because of prejudicial publicity.

The other was the issuance of the report of the American Bar Association's Committee on Fair Trial and Free Press. The report recommends blocking newspaper access to some criminal case news and enforcing the restraints with the threat of contempt of court.

The editors' convention will be addressed, before its adjournment Saturday night, by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, and Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Murray's committee offered these further comments on the past year's contacts between press and government:

"President Johnson continues to hurt his image and his credibility by consistently trying to make the news sound or seem better than it is."

"The war has escalated to the accompaniment of an almost unbroken succession of pronouncements that it was going in the opposite direction, or at least that something else was happening."

"Press relations (with the National Aeronautics and Space Agency) were generally satisfactory until the Jan. 27 Apollo tragedy in which three astronauts lost their lives."

NASA's information channels were not equal to the Apollo emergency, the report said. No official word came until 1 hour and 20 minutes after the fire started, and "Although the agency knew within five minutes, it took two hours to learn that all three astronauts were dead."

"NASA information not only was late and sparse, but some of it was deliberately misleading, some of it inaccurate."

"NASA said all three astronauts died in their couches, that all three apparently died instantaneously, and that there had been no communication at the time from the spacecraft - all false."

123 Die in Plane Crash on Cyprus

By ALEX EFTY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) - Scores of rescuers collected 123 burned, broken bodies today on the gentle slopes of a hill near Nicosia Airport where a chartered Swiss airliner crashed during the night in a thunderstorm.

Another victim died in a hospital, bringing the total dead to 124. It was one of the worst crashes in aviation history.

Four persons survived the crash of the four-engine turbo-prop Bristol Britannia airliner, which may have been hit by lightning. Three of them were reported in very serious condition.

Most of the dead were German and Swiss tourists returning from a trip to the Far East. The plane's crew included four Britons, all killed.

"This is the most terrible sight I've ever seen," said one of the first persons on the scene. "There are bodies all over the place, some of them in pieces."

The survivors were in the plane's tail section, the only part which remained somewhat intact.

"We kept looking but all we could find apart from those lucky few in the tail were dead people," the rescuer said.

Kindergarten Visits SW Bell Office

On Tuesday, April 18, the children of Methodist Kindergarten enjoyed a field trip to the southwestern Bell Telephone Building. The trip was planned in connection with a unit of study on the Community and Community Helpers.

Parents who assisted the teachers in transporting and caring for the children were: Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mrs. Richard Hogue, Mrs. Bob Martin.

Arrangements for the visit were made by Mrs. Clyde Park, an employee of the Telephone Company, who is also a kindergarten mother.

Clubs Asked for Statements

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Prosecutor Richard B. Addison has requested that all private clubs in Pulaski County submit to him a statement of their income and expenses for 1966 by May 15.

Addison, refusing to say why he wanted the information, said he would keep the statements confidential unless irregularities are found.

He said he would act to revoke the charters of clubs with irregular statements.

State law allows incorporation for such clubs to profit by their operations.

Wynne Man Is Hurt Fatally

WYNNE, Ark. (AP) - Clarence D. Johnson, 68, of Wynne was fatally injured Wednesday when his car and pickup truck collided west of here on U. S. 64.

Driver of the truck, John Tuberville, 65, of Wynne, was not injured.

Planes Hit Plants in Haiphong

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) - U.S. Navy planes struck closer to Haiphong today than ever before in the Vietnam war, attacking two thermal power plants just over a mile from North Vietnam's major port and second city.

A U.S. spokesman said two power plants were hit by warplanes from the U.S. 7th Fleet carrier Kitty Hawk just before noon. One plant was located 1.1 mile from Haiphong, the other 2.1 miles from the port city.

The raids on Haiphong's doorstep attested to the mounting fury of the air war in the North as the monsoon rains subside.

Wednesday American pilots flew through the heaviest defenses ever thrown up by the Communists to attack an army camp southeast of Hanoi. In 17 aerial dogfights over North Vietnam's heartland, the U.S. pilots downed one Communist MIG and probably got four more, the U.S. command said.

The closest previous raids to Haiphong were last June 29, when U.S. planes bombed an oil depot two miles from the city. The same day they hit an oil depot three miles from Hanoi.

The raids today on Haiphong's outskirts must have had approval from Washington and possibly from President Johnson himself. All raids within a 10-mile radius of the port city have to be cleared by Washington.

The Navy had been waiting for more than a week for clear weather to make the raids.

Walkout Fails to Close Plant

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Production work continued on schedule at the Batesville Manufacturing Co., here Wednesday night after about 200 persons walked off their jobs Wednesday afternoon in apparent protest of the suspension of an employee.

General Manager Robert King said some of the 50 to 75 workers on the night shift joined those who walked off earlier in the day, but he said he didn't know exactly how many.

The plant, which makes unspecified defense products, employs about 600 persons, King said.

He said the workers walked off because Haskell Poff, president of Local 2248 of the International Association of Machinists, was suspended until next Monday for carelessness with equipment.

King said Wednesday night that the company would stick to its disciplinary action.

Van Dalsem on State Pension

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - Paul Van Dalsem, 60, of Perryville and John M. Bransford, 65, of Lonoke were approved for legislative retirement at $100 a month Wednesday by the state Employees Retirement System Board.

Van Dalsem had represented Perry County in the state legislature for 26 years before being defeated last year. Bransford is the only representative, according to state records, to serve two consecutive terms as speaker of the House.

Medical Group Names Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) - Dr. Willis F. Brown of the University of Arkansas Medical Center at Little Rock, was elected president-elect of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists Wednesday.

He will become president of the 10,000-member group in 1968.

Election Suit in Lawrence

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) - Teams from both sides involved in an election suit will meet here next Wednesday to revise the tally in last year's race for Lawrence County sheriff and determine the winner.

Circuit Judge Andrew Ponder ruled Wednesday that there were 89 illegal votes cast in the general election and ordered each side in the suit to select three persons to count the 89 ballots and announce the winner in court.

The totals from the 89 ballots will be subtracted from the total vote each contestant received in the general election.

Surveyor 3 May Be in Lunar Crater

By RALPH DIGHTON
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)

Surveyor 3's first glare-blurred pictures hint it may be resting in a lunar crater after a gentle touchdown in an area astronauts someday may explore.

While the three-legged craft kept its moon-scratching claw retracted, spacecraft controllers at Jet Propulsion Laboratory said photographs radioed during 10 hours after the landing Wednesday showed less detail than those from Surveyor 1 last June. But they theorized this was due to sunlight reflected into the camera.

A spokesman said the horizon around the vehicle was about five degrees higher than it would be if Surveyor 3 had landed on a flat plain.

Diameter of the crater and the height of its rim were not known.

First operation of a scoop designed to extend from the spacecraft and dig in the lunar soil was scheduled for late tonight or early Friday. The shovel, on the end of a five-foot arm, can dig as deep as 18 inches, pick up small rocks, or hammer hard enough to break a brick.

The amount of power needed to move the shovel through the soil is expected to indicate if the surface is strong enough to support manned landing craft. Pictures taken after each of its jerky movements should show whether the soil is sandy or gravelly.

Clearest of the photographs taken in the first three attempts showed irregular wrinkles - apparently part of a crater wall - between the 620-pound craft and the horizon.

Readings from strain gauges on the vehicle's spindly legs indicated, however, that it came to rest gently and did not tilt.

The main problem seemed to be glare from the sun, coming in at a sunrise slant from the east and reflecting from the spacecraft's surfaces into a mirror that enables the upward-pointing camera to photograph the soil beneath it.

Hope Group to Extension Conference

Mrs. Vernon McMurtrey, Hempstead County Extension Homemakers Council President, and Mrs. Ernest Graham, South-west District Director of the State Extension Homemakers Council, are attending a meeting of the State Extension Homemakers Board of Directors being held in Little Rock, April 19-20, at the Lafayette Hotel.

"Tomorrow's Success in Extension Homemakers Clubs" is the theme of this business meeting represented by all counties throughout Arkansas.

Mrs. Graham will appear on the state program giving her view on suggestions for "What the Extension Homemakers Can Do Today for Success Tomorrow" and will preside over district meeting of delegates. Mrs. McMurtrey is representing the county sharing and receiving constructive program ideas.

The delegates report hearing Al Pollard, of Brooks-Pollard Agency in Little Rock, at banquet Wednesday evening. The meeting concludes today with lunch at the Arkansas Arts Center and a tour which will include the "Young Arkansas Artists" exhibition.

Thrifty Dish Is Company Fare

POLENTA — molded cornmeal mush — is topped with a savory meat sauce and grated cheese. This way it's good enough for company.

ECONOMICAL GROUND BEEF helps to make an interesting main dish suitable for an informal buffet supper for eight. The beef is used in a savory tomato sauce and the combination is teamed with polenta — cooked cornmeal that is molded and cut into squares. A topping of cheddar cheese is the last touch.

If you want to set up two tables for four, you'll find this recipe is perfect for such service because it's baked in two dishes.

POLENTA WITH MEAT SAUCE
1 1/2 cups enriched yellow cornmeal
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

1 1/2 cups cold water
3 cups boiling water
1 1/2 cups grated cheddar cheese
Meat Sauce (see recipe) dividing evenly; bake about 5 minutes longer. Serve at once. Makes 8 servings.

MEAT SAUCE
1 1/2 pounds ground chuck beef
1 can (15 ounces) and 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
3/4 cup chopped onion

Bar None, Best Of All Bars Is Butterscotch Cookie

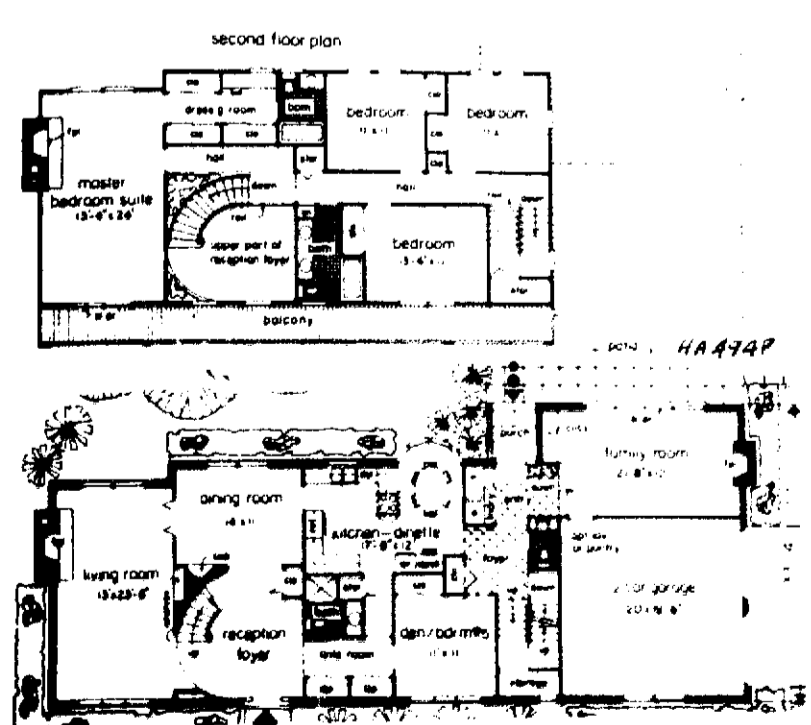

Here's a delightful butterscotch bar cookie, ideal for entertaining. Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars have all the delectable flavor their name indicates. Their delicate cake-like texture and handsome appearance recommend them for snacks, desserts and party fare. Old time favorite butterscotch flavor is achieved here in an instant with butterscotch flavored morsels. Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars are easy to prepare for all their homemade goodness. They keep well and freeze beautifully.

Butterscotch Coffee-Spice Bars
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup soft shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup hot water
1 teaspoon instant coffee
1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Combine brown sugar, shortening and egg; beat until creamy. Combine hot water and instant coffee; blend into creamed mixture. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon; gradually stir into creamed mixture. Add butterscotch flavored morsels and chopped nuts; mix well. Spread in greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Bake in 350° F. oven about 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into 3 x 1 1/2-inch bars.
YIELD: 2 dozen bars.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

WHEN PARENTS of teenagers wish they had two separate houses, instead of just separate bedrooms, they might think about Homes for Americans, plan HA-94P. It is designed for two generations, under one roof. The main floor is "split down the middle" between formal and informal zones. The adult entertaining area is composed of a spacious living room, dining room, and two-story-high reception foyer. Another entrance, with its own foyer and closets, gives access to the kitchen and family room. A second staircase here gives access to the basement and youngsters' bedrooms, which results in carrying out the first-floor zoning of the second floor. This design is by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161 St. Jamaica, N.Y., and has 1,768 square feet on the first floor, 1,330 square feet on the second.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

1 1/2 teaspoons celery salt
1 1/2 teaspoons oregano
In a large skillet over moderate heat, cook the ground beef; stir with a fork to crumble beef into very small pieces. Add tomato sauce, onion, salt, sugar, celery salt and oregano; simmer for 10 minutes. If Meat Sauce is made ahead, gently reheat (do not boil) before using as directed in Polenta and Meat Sauce recipe.

In a saucepan stir together the cornmeal, salt and cold water. Slowly stir in the boiling water. Over low heat, cook and stir constantly until thickened. Cover; continue cooking over low heat stirring several times, until very thick — about 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in 3/4 cup of the cheese. Pour into a baking pan (13 by 9 by 2 1/2 inches). Cool at room temperature for about 1/2 hour. Cover tightly with wax paper or plastic wrap. Refrigerate until firm enough to cut — several hours or overnight.

Before serving, cut set and chilled cornmeal mixture into squares and place in two oblong heatproof glass 1 1/2 quart baking dishes (each 10 by 6 by 1 3/4 inches). Spoon the Meat Sauce over the Polenta in both dishes, dividing the Meat Sauce evenly. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 25 minutes; sprinkle the remaining 3/4 cup cheese over Meat Sauce in both dishes.

Breading Helps Cubed Beef Steak Retain Moisture

Cuttings on fried foods help keep them deliciously moist. This is especially true when the meat used is a beef cubed steak which is a very lean cut. These steaks are cut one-fourth to one-half inch thick. They're mechanically tenderized, explains Reba Staggs, meat expert, which means they're put through a special machine.

Breaded Cubed Beef Steaks
4 cubed beef steaks
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup cracker crumbs
1 beaten egg
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
Combine salt, pepper and cracker crumbs. Dip cubed steaks in egg and then in cracker mixture. Melt lard or drippings in frying-pan. Add cubed steaks, cover closely, and cook slowly for 20 minutes. Turn and continue cooking for another 20 minutes or until done. 4 servings.

Says Missiles Limiting Bomb Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top defense official acknowledges that North Vietnam's MIG jet fighters and anti-aircraft missiles have cut down the effectiveness of U.S. bombing attacks, even though they have destroyed relatively few American planes.

Dr. John Foster, the Pentagon's research chief, also says the surface to air missiles force U.S. planes into evasive patterns that make them more vulnerable to concentrations of anti-aircraft guns.

Foster's statements were buried in a 134-page outline of defense research and development programs, submitted to a House Armed Services subcommittee two days ago.

Foster's statements tend to follow a different tack than those of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who has discounted the importance of both the MIGs and the anti-aircraft missiles.

They tend to reinforce the privately expressed claims of some U.S. pilots in Vietnam.

Foster put it this way: "The enemy can use surface to air missiles to force us into awkward flight profiles which make it difficult to avoid the relatively primitive but plentiful anti-aircraft weapons."

"He can even force us to abort our strike missions by 'faking' intercepts with his scarce fighters."

"Thus, although neither the fighters nor the SAMs have had a major effect on our aircraft losses, they have reduced to some extent our efficiency of operation."

The effectiveness — or non-effectiveness — of the North Vietnamese MIG force of some 115 fighters is a central point in the continuing argument over whether the United States should change its policy which currently bars any attacks on the MIG fields in North Vietnam or the planes sitting on them.

McNamara noted at a news conference April 3 that about 10 American war planes have been lost to MIGs and about 40 downed by anti-aircraft missiles out of a total at that time of some 500 U.S. planes destroyed during operations in the north.

"We think under present circumstances the loss of U.S. lives will be less if we pursue our present target policy than they would be were we to attack those airfields," McNamara said.

U.S. officials also take the position that attacks on the MIG fields might force the North Vietnamese air force to take refuge on bases in Red China.

Many American pilots in Vietnam have made it clear to newsmen they believe the MIG fields should be knocked out and the planes on them smashed before they have a chance to take off and threaten the U.S. missions. Their view is backed by senior Air Force officers.

Pilots who are veterans of many missions in the north have come back with reports that they have had to dump their bombs before hitting their assigned targets in order to lighten their planes to deal with threatened MIG attacks.

Red Scientist Thinks Flying Objects Real

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet scientist says there may really be such things as flying saucers in outer space.

Soviet radar screens have detected unidentified flying objects — UFOs — for 20 years, he says.

But Soviet scientists, like their colleagues in the West, are still puzzled about what such UFOs really are.

The scientist, identified only as P. Zigel, was writing in the current issue of the illustrated Soviet youth magazine Cmena.

He offered five possible explanations for UFOs, including visitors from outer space. He called this alternative "extremely speculative."

"But," he added, "as the UFO problem has not yet been solved, different explanations, including extremes, are possible."

The article took the lid off a subject rarely discussed in the press here.

In the 1950s the Soviet press scoffed at American reports of flying saucers as just so much Cold War propaganda.

By those Soviet accounts, the Americans tried to explain away the "saucers" as some sort of new, secret Soviet weapons.

Reports of flying saucers sighted in the Soviet Union, in the Caucasus and in Central Asia, also were ridiculed here.

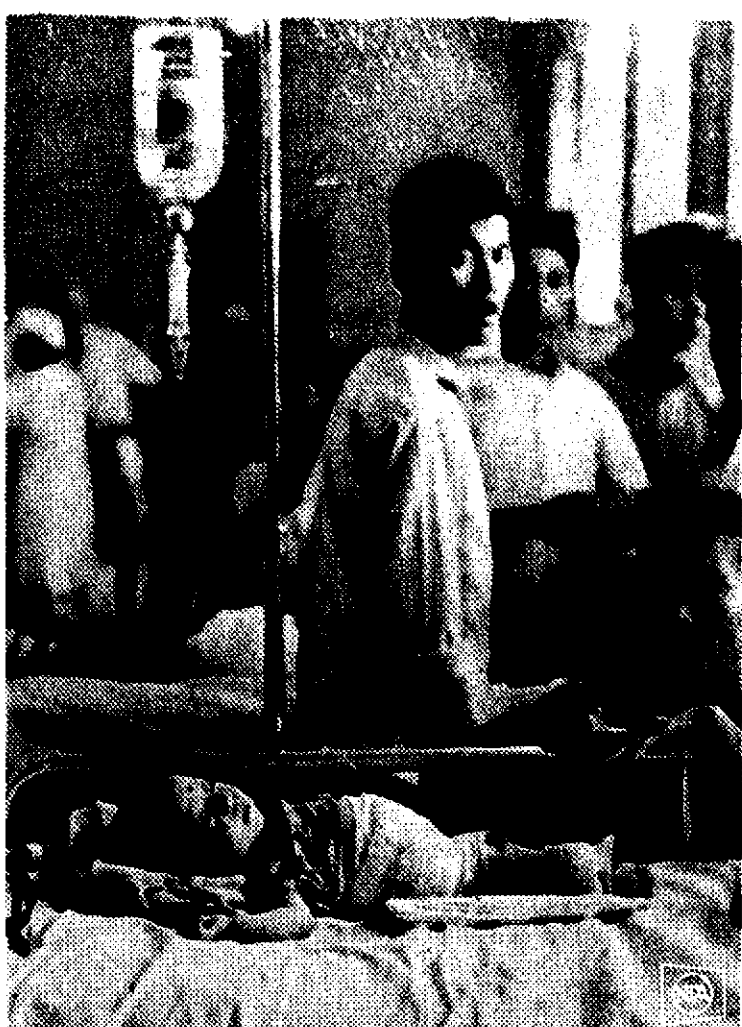

Then for several years the Soviet press remained silent on the whole question, the Cmena article showed that the UFO issue is being reopened, this time as an object of serious scientific study.

Zigel was identified as one of the editors of a book, "Inhabited Cosmos," being prepared for publication here. The book will discuss the possibility of living beings in space and efforts to communicate with them.

The chief editor of the book is P. Konstantinov, who, as a vice president of the Soviet Academy of Science, is one of his country's most respected scientists.

In his magazine article, Zigel said the "angel echo," a UFO detected by radar, is constantly observed by scientists at the Central Aerological Observatory near Moscow.

Similar observations, he said, have been made in the United WAR STRIKES Indiscriminately at times, as was the case with this tiny Vietnamese baby wounded in a battle with Communist terrorists near Can Tho. The child's mother keeps vigil beside the inert body, waiting for the little eyes to open.

States, Australia, India and Japan.

"The phenomena of the UFO today should be considered as global," he added.

He rejected the idea that birds, insects or plant seeds could cause such reactions on radar screens.

"Zigel said there could be no doubt that UFOs exist 'but the nature of these objects is still not understandable today.'"

Then he listed these five possible explanations:

1. Nonsense or invention. He said there was some untruth here, citing reports of people who claimed to have ridden in flying saucers and others who threw hats in the air and then photographed "saucers." But he rejected this alternative as killing the question rather than solving it.

2. An optical illusion related to the distribution of light in the earth's atmosphere, such as a rainbow. The UFO, he said, is more complicated than that, however.

3. A new secret flying apparatus of one of the military powers on earth. "No one holds this view now," he said.

4. An unknown phenomena of nature, just as radioactivity was unknown until the end of the last century. In this context, ionized particles and charged particles of dust in the atmosphere were given as a possible explanation. But Zigel said, this does not explain the color or maneuverability of UFOs or their appearance in good weather.

5. Spaceships from an advanced civilization on another planet. Zigel said the speed of UFOs support this theory. So does what he called "the fact" that no UFOs were ever reliably reported to have landed.

Says Birthdays for Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Leopold Stokowski, 85 years old today, says he isn't impressed and he doesn't expect anyone else to be.

"Birthdays are for children," he said in an interview Monday.

This year, Stokowski and 26 members of the American Symphony are performing in veterans' hospitals with the maestro paying the musicians' fees.

"Nothing is too good for these soldiers," he said. "Many of them are just back from Vietnam, and some of them are in pain all the time."

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Pork boned and tied loin roast.

Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?

A. It comes from the loin section. The retailer prepares this roast by cutting a whole pork loin into two pieces of equal length. They are boned, shaped and tied together. The roast usually weighs from four to six pounds.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting. This means placing the roast on a rack in an open pan or on a rotisserie rod. It should cook at moderate temperature (350° F.) until the roast meat thermometer registers 170° F. This will take 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours, allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting. The newer temperature of 170° F. has been recently determined by university research. It's applicable to all pork loin roasts. If desired, the roast may be brushed with a glaze during the last 20 to 30 minutes of cooking time.

Chocolate and Filberts Make a Great Team

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

HOW CHOCOLATE ROLLS have caught on! When cooks want to serve a glamorous dessert, they're likely to offer one of these confections.

This newest chocolate roll has an extra fillip — toasted filberts go into the batter and the filling is a coffee flavored butter-cream.

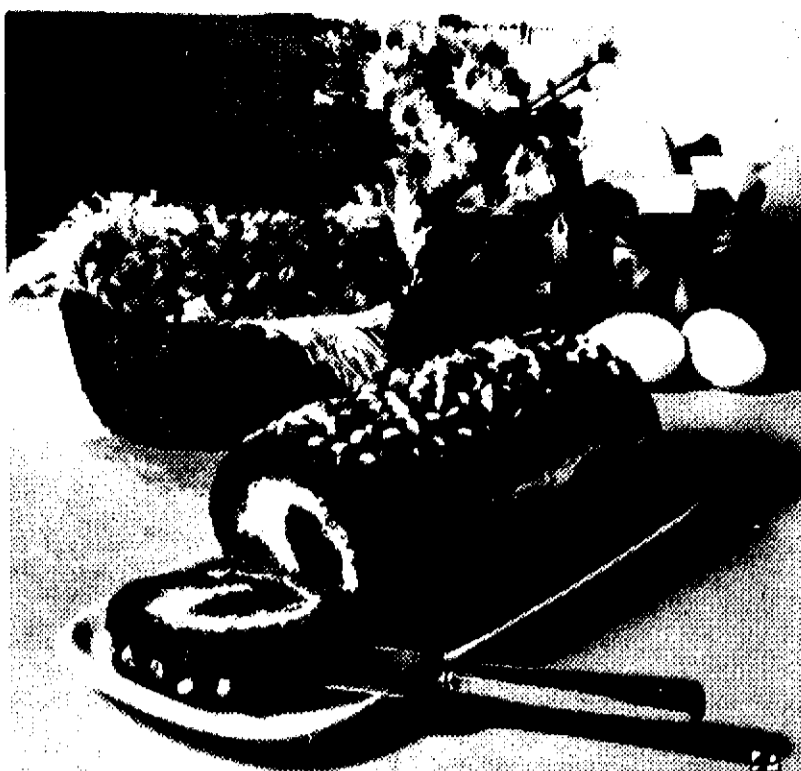

The roll may be made well ahead of a party and kept in the refrigerator. Or if a party isn't in the books, it will make a great gift for a friend. We took our chocolate-filbert roll visiting; we found it carried well and was enthusiastically received.

CHOCOLATE MOCHA FILBERT ROLL

1/2 cup sifted regular flour
 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa
 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3/4 cup (about 3 ounces) finely chopped toasted filberts
 6 eggs
 1 cup granulated sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 Confectioners sugar
 Mocha Filling (see Recipe)
 Chocolate Glaze (see Recipe)

Grease bottom of jellyroll pan (about 15 by 10 by 1 inch); line bottom with wax paper; grease paper.

On a piece of wax paper, sift

TOASTED FILBERTS add delightful flavor to that glamorous dessert — chocolate roll with a mocha-flavored filling.

together the flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; mix in filberts. In a large mixing bowl beat the eggs with the granulated sugar and vanilla until very thick and lemon color; gradually fold in flour mixture. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until cake springs back when lightly touched with finger — about 20 minutes. With a small spatula, loosen edges; turn out onto tea towel sprinkled with confectioners sugar. Gently remove wax paper. Roll up cake in towel starting with one of the short (10 inch) sides; place roll in towel on wire rack to cool. Unroll cake and spread with Mocha Filling. Reroll and spread top and sides with Chocolate Glaze. Refrigerate; after Chocolate Glaze hardens, wrap roll in clear plastic film and refrigerate again. Before serving, allow the roll to stand at room temperature to soften the chocolate glaze somewhat so it can be cut without breaking.

MOCHA FILLING
 3/4 cup sweet (unsalted) butter
 1 1/2 teaspoons instant coffee powder
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 2 egg yolks
 3/4 cup sifted confectioners sugar

In a small mixing bowl, cream butter with coffee powder and vanilla. Beat in the egg yolks and confectioners sugar until thoroughly blended and smooth. Use as directed in recipe for Chocolate Mocha Filbert Roll.

CHOCOLATE GLAZE
 2 squares (2 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1 teaspoon honey

In a small saucepan over low heat, melt the chocolate with the butter and honey, stirring until smooth. Remove from heat and use as directed in recipe for Chocolate Mocha Filbert Roll.

Terrorism Outbreaks in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — A young Vietnamese leans his bicycle against a telephone pole near a tennis court in Saigon where several American servicemen are playing. He walks away and an explosive inside the bicycle detonates, injuring a U.S. officer and two Vietnamese children.

The Viet Cong shell a polling place in a primary school at Long Thoi hamlet. They abduct 12 village council candidates from Vinh Tho village.

The Viet Cong overrun a village of Montagnard tribesmen, shoot the village leaders, and burn the breasts of the village chief's wife and daughter with flaming sticks.

Terrorists in a village north-east of Saigon tie three teen-aged girl members of a government pacification team to stakes before shooting them in the back of the head.

All these are examples of the terrorism which is a major part of the Communist war to take over South Vietnam. U.S. officials report a slight increase in such Red activity in the past few months, with much of it designed to intimidate voters in the village and hamlet elections now being held every weekend.

Six candidates have been killed and 30 have been kidnapped. Since March 12, authorities have reported 333 terrorist incidents related to the balloting.

According to South Vietnamese government records, the Viet Cong have carried out an average of 22,000 terrorist acts a year during the past several years. The attacks take many forms and reach all segments of the Vietnamese civilian population. Favorite targets are Vietnamese and American military personnel off duty.

Terrorism serves several purposes in the Viet Cong's campaign to subvert the Saigon government and weaken its ability to resist Viet Cong military attacks.

Terrorists attempt to destroy effective village leadership by killing, maiming or frightening off local officials

Is there a difference in milk? You bet there is!

The best milk is the one that's best for your family. It's the one that will taste best to your children and give them the best possible nourishment.

Every milk has to meet certain standards. So, how do you tell which milk is best?

The surest way is to buy milk that has built a reputation for consistently good quality through more careful, more expensive handling and processing.

This is exactly what The Borden Company has been doing for over a hundred years. Borden's Milk is always better than it has to be!

Quality controls for Borden's Milk begin with the dairy farm and continue until the milk reaches you. In all, 23 separate tests are made for freshness, purity and flavor.

Government standards? Borden's exceeds them by putting almost 2 full cups of cream in every half-gallon carton to give your family a bonus in good taste and nourishment.

There are differences in milk just like a lot of other products... some less expensive... some without the rigid, high standards of quality which Borden's has.

Milk is too important for any kind of economy with your family. We think you'll agree that your children deserve the best.

The milk for children

Beauty, a booming business

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

PANORAMA CITY, Calif.—(AP)—Out from this peaceful San Fernando Valley town marching an army—armed with lipstick brushes and eye-liner pencils.

Women have been using cosmetics since the first cave-dweller smeared saber-toothed tiger grease on her hair, but Panorama City's army is adding something new to the cosmetics business. They're taking trained beauty consultations into the home. The idea of selling things in the home isn't new, especially in the field of cosmetics. But what the Viviane Woodward people are doing is a new twist to an old commercial venture. The gimmick is to train their salespeople as beauty experts. It is the feeling of Lee Fein, the company's vice president in charge of the program, that most women buy cosmetics without any real knowledge of what they're buying or how to use it. "They go into a drugstore," Fein says, "and the girl behind the counter will say, 'That's just the right color for you.' Then the girl will go back and make a chocolate malted. She really doesn't know anything about cosmetics."

To remedy that awful situation, the company takes housewives and makes beauty experts out of them. Four times a year, a group of women comes to Panorama City (or either of two other locations) and attends a beauty academy for a week. Then they go back home, trained and ambitious, and begin to make house calls. Their aim, of course, is to sell cosmetics, but this is the epitome of the soft-sell. The company's policy is for each of its consultants to give every prospect two beauty lessons before she even mentions the word "buy."

The first lesson is facial care—"you can't paint a pretty picture on an unattractive canvas," Fein says—and the second lesson concentrates on making up eyes and lips.

At the moment, there are some 30,000 women around the country equipped to render this basic service. They are doing remarkably well, on the average—in one Amish community in Ohio, with a population of 1,000, one of these beauty consultants sold $30,000 worth of merchandise after first teaching the Amish women the joys of properly applied lipstick.

So the army is marching on, spreading beauty as it goes. If they keep up, they will remedy one situation which Fein considers a national tragedy.

"In this country," he says, "only 16 per cent of the women use eye make-up. And that's mostly because they don't know how to put it on. We're going to change all that."

Minobe Elected, May Be Problem

TOKYO (AP)—Supporters of the U.S.-Japan security treaty fear the election of leftist Ryokichi Minobe as governor of Tokyo Saturday will result in a more lenient attitude toward demonstrations when the treaty comes up for review in 1970.

Leftists have threatened to repeat the demonstrations that accompanied the treaty's signing in 1960 and have called for repeal of demonstration control laws. Minobe, an independent who was supported by the Socialists and Communists.

Some Children in Suburbs Handicapped

NEW YORK (AP)—Are the children of suburbia—growing up in pockets of affluence and a likeness—being properly prepared to live in a world of people who are different in nationality, race, religion and economic background?

For four years a group of teachers, sociologists and researchers, supervised by Dr. Alice Miel of Columbia University, concentrated on a typical American suburb to find the answer. The results of their study, made public today, add up to an emphatic "no."

Although the parents say they moved to the suburbs in the first place "for the children" and "to have better schools," the report states, "in one aspect of their education suburban children are underprivileged."

"Though other races, other nationalities, other generations have a great deal to teach them, there is little in their education, formal or otherwise, to familiarize them with the rich diversity of American life."

"In this sense, despite the many enviable features of their environment, the children of suburbia are being short-changed."

The study focuses on a community not far from New York city which is called New Village. Dr. Miel refuses to disclose its real identity, but says it strongly resembles suburbs around the country.

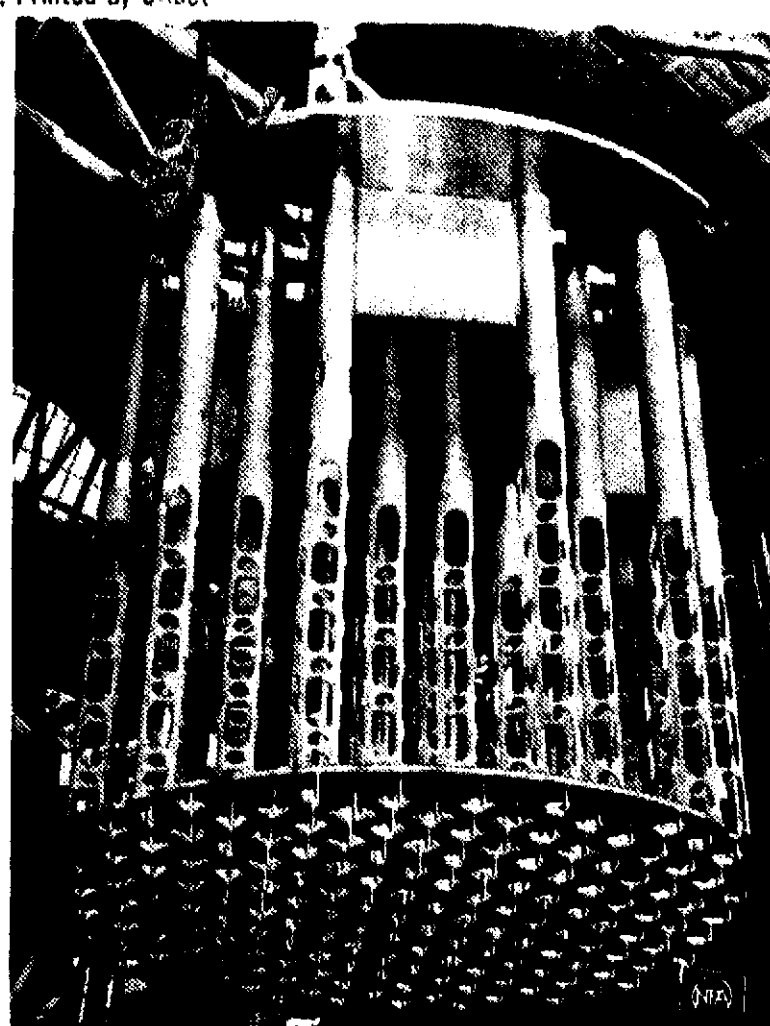

Growing up in New Village means a youngster has practically no encounter with people different from himself. His life and social contacts are almost totally controlled by his parents, whether or not the parents realize this.

"He depends on his mother to chauffeur him wherever he goes. As a result, he knows little beyond his own home, the very similar homes of friends, the school and the inside of the family car; he is largely insulated from any chance introduction to a life different from his own," says the report.

The researchers observed that the children learned to be hypocritical about differences at a very early age, that their supposed tolerance was only skin-deep. "The prejudices of their society were still very much with them, but they had not drilled into them that it was 'not nice' to express such feelings."

One hopeful thing, the report says was that a good many parents united in desiring more emphasis on certain kinds of human difference, such as their children learning about nationality differences and achieving respect for other faiths.

"Many parents and teachers

INDUSTRIAL PIPE ORGAN can't play a note, but it can help whistle up 490,000 kilowatts of electricity when included in the Connecticut Yankee Atomic Power Company's power plant now under construction. In this upper internal, package of a pressurized water reactor on the plant, water will flow upwards past fuel assemblies below and continue through these pipes on its way to the heat exchanger.

In Vietnam Even Elephant Is Treated

SAIGON, (AP)—Quick, doctor, bring your bag. My elephant has been shot.

Such was the message that came to Maj. Charles Lea of Columbia, Mo. The elephant, named Khon, belonged to a mountain tribesman named Hra.

The surgeon treats combat casualties of the Screaming Eagles, the men of the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade. The 101st's civil affairs officer, Maj. Thomas Pligh of Douglaston, N.Y., thought he ought to treat the elephant, too.

Lea and Bligh found the elephant lying beneath a tree, a bullet in his left front leg.

Hra mounted Khon, and the elephant reluctantly rose. Lea approached "with great poise," a division account reported, while Bligh supervised from a distance of several feet, beyond the swing of the elephant's trunk.

The festering wound was on the inside of the leg. Probing somewhat gingerly, Lea found the bullet imbedded two inches beneath the elephant's hide in the general area of what he would call the upper arm on his other patients.

He plucked out the slug, cleaned the wound and applied what he hopes was enough antiseptic to kill elephant germs. Khon being restless, the doctor left off the bandage.

At last report the patient was doing well.
